BOILER EXPLOSION KILLS MANY PEOPLE.

Terrible Disaster in R. B. Grover Plant at Brockton, Mass.

Long Four-story Structure Shaken Partly Into Debris and the Rest Burned—At Least Sixty Lives Were Extinguished and More Than Fifty Employees Are Injured—Fire Sweeps Neighboring Blocks.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

BROCKTON (Mass.) March 20.—At least sixty persons were killed early today by the explosion of a boiler in a large shoe manufacturing establishment in the Campello district, conducted by the R. B. Grover Company. The explosion was immediately followed by a flash of flame, which consumed the factory, a long, four-story structure, as if it were a house of cards and incinerated an unknown number of men and women who were unable to extricate themselves from a mass of tangled wreckage formed by the terrific upheaval in the boiler room. More than fifty of the employees in the building were maimed, burned or bruised by the time they reached safe ground. Some had jumped from the roof, some from windows and others had been injured in the mad rush to escape from the doomed factory, which from all parts emitted the heat of an inferno, driving back the band of rescuers, who, in a few moments, had performed gallant service.

The fire extended from the factory to seven other buildings in the vicinity, and destroyed them. One of these buildings was a three-story wooden block owned by Charles F. Dahlberg, the others being cottages of small value, and a blacksmith shop. The wooden dwellings near the engine-room were practically demolished by the flying boiler, but none of the occupants were seriously injured. The total financial loss is estimated at $250,000, $200,000 of which falls on the R. B. Grover Company. It may never be known just how many persons perished in the wreckage.

BROCKTON (Mass.) March 20.—At 8 o'clock tonight, a revised list by the Medical Examiner of the remains of persons who perished through the explosion at R. B. Grover and Company's shoe factory, shows a total of forty-three. Many fragments which in the afternoon were thought to be parts of additional bodies are now declared by the Medical Examiner to belong to the forty-three enumerated. More than 19 were still missing tonight. Fully fifty persons are suffering from injuries.

No one knows exactly how many persons were in the factory. The number has been estimated at 400, but Treasurer Charles C. Emerson said tonight that he doubted whether there were so many at work. Two hundred and fifty survivors have been accounted for, and at midnight the remains of fifty bodies had been recovered from the ruins, the search being continued all night. Fragments of human frames which possibly might belong to the bodies of other than those enumerated have also been found. Few of the remains have been identified. The head in nearly every instance is missing, and, except in rare instances, it was impossible even to distinguish the sex.

Chief of Police Boyden, at a late hour tonight, expressed the opinion that some of the employees had not reached the factory at the time of the explosion, and that undoubtedly a number of those living in nearby places were injured and had gone home without reporting their injuries. He thought that many of those unaccounted for, more than 100 in number, were among these.

The disaster was attended by many harrowing scenes and thrilling rescues. There is no trace of the body of David W. Rockwell, engineer of the plant, who was not seen after the explosion. It is supposed that he perished at his post.

An inspection of the wrecked boiler by the State Boiler Inspector showed there was a sufficient supply of water in it. The cause of the explosion is not known.

WITHOUT WARNING.
ROAR AND A COLLAPSE.
(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)
BROCKTON, March 20.—The explosion, which was followed by such a sacrifice of life and entailed appalling instances of human suffering, occurred shortly after the operatives had settled down to work for the day, and without warning suddenly the air vibrated with the roar of an explosion. At the same moment, the large wooden frame of the factory a four-story structure, quivered, and then the rear portion of it collapsed. This section of the great building had been transformed into a mass of iron and wood wreckage, in the midst of which human beings were pinioned. In another moment fire had broken out in the debris, and death by fire and suffocation became the fate of scores of the operatives.

When the boiler exploded it passed upward almost perpendicularly, tearing a passage as it went, killing many on the way. After rising high in the air it descended half the distance, and then, swerving northward, cut its way like some huge projectile through a dwelling-house fifty feet away, and pierced another dwelling further along.

SCENES OF HORROR.
Scenes of horror followed the wrenching apart of the factory building. In the rear, the three upper floors, weighted as they were with

FRIGHTFUL MORTALITY.
(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)
PARIS, March 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A dispatch to the Matin from St. Petersburg says that the mortality in the Russian army at the front is frightful. Five thousand men succumbed to wounds or disease last week at Harbin. The greater number of railroad cars and trucks upon which wounded are piled are brought into the station and left upon sidings without having their human freight removed. The station exhalas a terrible stench, having become combined hospital, refuse heap and charnel house.

TOKIO, March 21, 11 a.m.—The following official announcement has been made:
"Our detachment entered and occupied Kiyasu Sunday morning at 4 o'clock. On the same day, at 10:30 o'clock, the enemy's cavalry, about sixty strong, with three companies of infantry, attempted a counter-attack, but was completely repulsed."

"Toward the northeast, the bridge on the main road south of Kiyasu have been burned by the enemy. The railway bridges have been partly destroyed."

"The number of guns captured near Mukden is increasing, owing to discoveries of those buried by the enemy before retreating."

"The British steamer Harborton, carrying coal to Vladivostok, was seized Saturday by the Japanese."

ONLY OCCASIONAL SKIRMISHES.
REAR GUARDS RETREATING.
(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)
GUNSHU PASS, March 20, Morning.—The last two days have been utterly without incident except for the removal of the censor to Kudzu Pass. The Russian rear guard is retreating slowly and engaging in occasional skirmishes. It has now reached a position twenty-seven miles north of Tie Pass. The Japanese are slowly advancing, without pressing the Russians.

In the course of the retreat the Russians are destroying bridges, the railway road bed and highways and carrying off stores and demolishing buildings and everything not portable. Reports of a wide turning movement by the Japanese are no longer being received.

There is increasing difficulty in securing reliable information beyond the limits within which scouting parties are active, on account of the defection of many Chinese to the Japanese side. Many natives who have been employed as servants by Russian officers have run away, and other consequences of the evacuation of Mukden are noticeable in the attitude of the Chinese.

REPORT FROM LINEVITCH.
(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)
ST. PETERSBURG, March 20.—A dispatch from Gen. Linevitch, dated March 19, 9 p.m., says:
"The commander of the second army prayed aloud; others pleaded with the rescuers to say good-by to relatives. The spectacle unnerved many who were trying vainly to get to the victims, and some turned away sick and fainting. Numbers of the fire department, with ladders, aided greatly in the work of the rescue, but their time for work was short, for within a brief interval fire closed over the wreckage and the cries of the imprisoned were hushed.

LEAPS ACROSS STREET.
In the meantime, the fire was spreading from the Grover factory. It leaped across Calmar street to a three-story brick block at the corner of Mann street, owned by Charles F. Dahlberg, and occupied as a hardware store, and then to a wooden lodging house, a dwelling house and small buildings, all of which were destroyed. From the rear of the factory, the flames stretched across Denton street to two dwelling houses.

By this time, the entire fire department and all the police reserves were on the scene, but with the high wind blowing the flames could not be checked, and soon reached two other dwellings. All these buildings were practically ruined, but at this point the fire was stopped.

The house to the north of the factory, through which the exploded boiler crashed, was owned and occupied by David W. Rockwell, the engineer in charge of the boiler, who was among the killed. The house was demolished, the roof being ripped off and two walls torn down. Mrs. Rockwell, who was sitting by the kitchen stove, had a miraculous escape from death, receiving many cuts from flying bits of timber when the boiler sped through the upper portion of her house. Mrs. Rockwell snatched up her two children, who were uninjured, and started for the home of her nearest neighbor, Mrs. Etta Hood. She found this cottage had been practically rent asunder by the boiler, the heads of which was buried in the middle of the structure. The cottage was thrown several feet off its foundation, and Miss Pratt, who was in the house, was knocked down and stunned, but recovered.

Not until after noon was it possible to begin a search of the factory ruins. Several charred and headless bodies were recovered near the boiler pit, and the bones of others were found. Treasurer G. G. Weston of the Grover Company estimated the loss on the factory at $250,000 and the loss on the other burned structures was placed at about $50,000.

In an interview given to the Associated Press tonight, Mrs. David W. Rockwell, whose husband was the engineer, said: "My husband had said many times of late that he had to put on the boiler a pressure it was unequal to. He had to do this, he said, because the work in the factory required it."

When shown Mrs. Rockwell's statement, Superintendent Emerson of the Grover Company said that the amount of pressure on the boiler was a matter in which the factory officials did not interfere. "Rockwell," said he, "took his orders in this matter from the Hartford Boiler Insurance Company, and if he overworked the boiler he did it without our knowledge."

A CRACK RESPONSIBLE.
(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)
BOSTON, March 20.—"A crack in the lap seam of the boiler was responsible for the Brockton accident," said an expert engineer of the Hartford Steam Inspection and Insurance Company tonight. "It was practically impossible to detect the crack, and it was on the inside part of the lap running beside rivets."

The boiler, being insured and inspected by the Hartford Steam Boiler Insurance Company, was exempt from inspection by the district police under the laws.

THE VICTIMS.
(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)
BROCKTON (Mass.) March 20.—The work of identifying those killed by the explosion progressed slowly, owing to the generally unrecognizable remains of the victims. The list of identified dead follows:
J. RAY COLE.
HARRY H. HALL.
JEROME MAYO, aged 30.
GEORGE SMITH.
EMMA B. PRAY.

CRISIS AS TO VENEZUELA.

France Stands up for the Cable Company.

Two French Warships Have Been Set Going.

Case of Cherokee Indians, New Extra Session.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

WASHINGTON, March 20.—The French Cable Company complications have reached a crisis, and Minister Boreau has informed the State Department that the French Minister at Caracas, by instruction of his government, has notified the Venezuelan government that there must be no further proceedings on its part toward the cancellation of the company's franchise or interference with its property. Further, Mr. Boreau reports that two French warships have been ordered to leave the Caribbean Sea.

It is the expectation here that the appearance of these ships at La Guayra will cause President Castro to accede promptly to the demands of the French Minister, failing which the Minister probably will place the legation in the care of some other Minister at Caracas and abandon one of the ships, thus severing diplomatic relations between France and Venezuela. The present situation cannot continue more than a few days, according to the official opinion here. There may be some further exchange relative to the affairs of the cable company through third parties and the possibility of pressure being brought to bear on President Castro by other diplomats at Caracas is suggested.

If the Venezuelan government seizes the cable office near La Guayra, it is fully expected that the French warships will make a demonstration, attempt to take possession of the cable station of the property and, if resisted, open fire upon the defensive works recently constructed to command the harbor at La Guayra.

The Dutch government has lodged a very serious complaint with President Castro against the seizure of the cable station and may join with France in coercive measures.

The French government has not asked the consent of the United States to its proceedings against Castro, nor does it feel called upon to do so. But with a perfect knowledge of the policy of the United States on such matters as outlined in the correspondence between the State Department and the German Ambassador, in connection with the German naval demonstrations at La Guayra in the winter of 1917, the French government is proceeding on the theory that there will be no intervention of this government. This assumption is correct, providing there is no intention on the part of the French to insist, with a view to its retention, on Venezuela.

FRENCH REPRESENTATIONS.
(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)
PARIS, March 20, 4:30 p.m.—The representations by the French Minister at Caracas to the Venezuelan government against the seizure of the cable station, but are in the nature of a declaration upon the legal rights of the French Cable Company, which France desires to have respected. The authorities here do not wish the view to prevail that French relations with Venezuela have reached an emergency stage. On the contrary, it is said the question remains clearly within the diplomatic line and no consideration has yet been given to sending warships to Venezuelan waters or taking other possible measures for exerting force.

Owing to the differences between Caracas and Paris, the court's decision is not expected here tonight and may possibly be deferred for several days. The authorities here have from the first intended to deal with the subject without sending in troops, but the United States intended doing so upon practical conditions relative to the New York and Mercedes Asphalt Company. The purpose of this is to be to accept similar conditions on the same lines as the United States, although maintaining independent action.

Inquiry at the Ministry of Marine tonight failed to elicit verification of the report called here from the United States to the effect that French warships have been ordered to Venezuela. On the contrary, no movements of that character have been ordered. However, over there has been no meeting of the Cabinet since Friday when it was decided not to take definite action until the Venezuelan courts have rendered a final decision. The Foreign Office said definitely that the stage of the sending of warships had not yet been reached.

WATCHING DEVELOPMENTS.
(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

WASHINGTON, March 20.—Carlos R. Figueroa, Consul-General of Venezuela at New York, arrived here tonight in the company of Dr. Paul, special diplomatic envoy of Venezuela to the United States. Dr. Paul will remain here several days to watch developments in the trouble over the French Cable Company's concession from Venezuela. Figueroa said tonight that the cablegram from Minister Boreau saying that suit had been instituted at this time by Venezuela to cancel the cable company's concession and seizure of the property was incorrect, as the suit to annul the concession was brought in the Venezuelan courts in 1907. The basis of the suit, he said, was allegations that the company had not given such a cable service as was stipulated should be given when the concession was granted. The cable line, it was stated by Figueroa, had not been seized, and was unseized. He said that his information was to the effect that all parties were awaiting a decision on appeal in the case which decision should be handed down this week.

Consul-General Figueroa said he was confident that the lawsuit at Caracas, no attempt would be made by coercive measures to influence the regular judicial procedure of his country.

HOLDERS OF BONDS.
(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

PARIS, March 20.—Gen. Antonio Belizant, President Castro's financial agent at Antwerp, has been authorized to sign a contract with the German and British holders of Venezuelan bonds pledging 50 per cent. of the customs receipts of Guanta La Vela, Cumana, Ciudad Bolivar, Puerto Colon and Caracas to pay $25,000,000, bearing interest at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum, until other creditor nations are paid for 50 per cent. of the customs of La Guayra and Puerto Cabello, after which the two ports shall pay 25 per cent. of their total receipts to Great Britain and Germany. It is estimated that Germany and Great Britain will get a preponderating influence over Venezuela for fifty years, and continue their alliance. It is reported that President Castro receives a gift of $2,000,000 in consideration of this arrangement.

THE REVOLT IN RUSSIA.

Gov. Misasodoff of Viborg in a Critical Condition.

Revolutionist Halts Russianification in Finland.

Three Squadrons of Dragoons After Armed Jews.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

WASHINGTON, March 20.—Full copies of the decision of the Supreme Court of Venezuela, technically known as the Federal and Cassation Court; that is, court of the sole and last instance, in the action against the New York and Mercedes Asphalt Company, have just reached Washington, and a copy has been filed at the State Department. The decision is very long. It embodies a history of the proceedings in the asphalt case, and is signed by seven judges. It bears the date of February 15, and in brief amounts to an affirmation of the correctness of the proceedings in the lower court leading to the attachment of the property of the company. This action is based on the fact that the company did not live up to the terms of its concession in failing to canalize certain streams and develop certain lands reserved for the company. No notice appears to have been taken of the company's contention that it holds title in land which was not solely under the original concession known as the Hamilton concession of 1882, but under the land laws of Venezuela under which the company has been duly taken out for the land.

DENVER ELECTION CASE.
BEFORE SUPREME COURT.
(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

WASHINGTON, March 20.—The Supreme Court of the United States today denied the motion for writs of habeas corpus in the cases of Peter Miller and Thomas Shepperson, two of the Denver election officials who were sentenced to terms of imprisonment by the Supreme Court of Colorado on charges of violating the orders of the court in connection with the November election. No written opinion was handed down in the case.

Miller and Shepperson were judge and clerk, respectively, of Precinct 5 of the Eighth Ward of the county of Denver, and each of them was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and serve a year in close confinement for violation of the injunction of the State Supreme Court forbidding all officers of election in the city from interfering with or preventing the free and open election. Miller and Shepperson, with fifty or sixty others, are serving their sentences.

The case was brought to the Federal Supreme Court by United States Senator Patterson, former Gov. Thomas Patterson, Democratic Senator of Colorado, who, in their briefs, attacked the jurisdiction of the State Supreme Court in the matter of the regulation of elections. The Supreme Court to issue writs of habeas corpus for the release of the prisoners, which, by its decision today, refused to do.

ANOTHER EXTRA SESSION.
SENATOR ALLISON'S STATEMENT.
(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

DES MOINES (Iowa), March 20.—Senator Allison is scheduled to make a statement that the President will call Congress in extraordinary session October 1, two months in advance of the regular session, for the purpose of considering the railroad-rate increase. Senator Allison also expresses his own views relative to the rate question. He stands for empowering the Interstate Commerce Commission to adjust rates, declaring that there are many abuses which are subject to correction. His statements of the rate question were conveyed to Editor Althouse of the World, and were published in his paper.

VERDICT FOR CHEROKEES.
(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

WASHINGTON, March 20.—The cases of the Cherokee Indians against individual Cherokees against the United States were decided by the Court of Claims today. They involve a large amount of money, and are of an unusual and extraordinary character. The United States bought the Cherokee Outlet, agreeing to pay for it $2,000,000, being about $1 per acre, and also agreeing to reopen a long-standing controversy between the Cherokees and the Cherokees. In 1835, a treaty was made under which the Cherokees were to move or be removed from Georgia, Alabama and Tennessee to the Indian Territory.

The Cherokees contended before the court that the treaty was not to be made until the Cherokees had been removed to a country to which they did not wish to go. The government contended to the contrary. When the Cherokee Outlet was sold, the Indians' attorneys contended that all of their accounts should be reopened and the matter equitably settled, and for that purpose the United States should make out an account and transmit it to the Cherokees. The account was adopted, but Congress did not appropriate the money and did not make the settlement. The Cherokees then brought this action, contending that the United States district judge of the Northern District of Illinois, who was recently confirmed as judge of the United States Circuit Court in Illinois, was made public at the White House today. The case was argued by Judge Kohlsaat on all of the charges.

LOUISIANA PURCHASE COMMISSION.
(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

WASHINGTON, March 20.—The National Commission on the Louisiana Purchase Exposition met here today, and former Senator Thurston of Nebraska presided. The commission heard Walter H. Stevens, secretary of the exposition company, with reference to the contract, complaints having been made that not as much money was realized from the exposition as was expected. Mr. Stevens said the exposition company considered that it had done very well, and that it was satisfied with the price when compared with those obtained by other expositions. The commission took no action on the matter. The question of awards was not considered.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—Reports and correspondence relating to the investigation made by the Department of Justice into the charges made against Christian C. Kohlsaat, former United States district judge of the Northern District of Illinois, who was recently confirmed as judge of the United States Circuit Court in Illinois, were made public at the White House today. The case was argued by Judge Kohlsaat on all of the charges.

BOY SHOOT SLAV SATRAP.

Gov. Misasodoff of Viborg in a Critical Condition.

Revolutionist Halts Russianification in Finland.

Three Squadrons of Dragoons After Armed Jews.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

PARIS, March 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A St. Petersburg dispatch to the Petit Parisien says the peasant movement is assuming extraordinary proportions. Dwellers among the forests and mountains on the Volga are marching against the bourgeois class and the nobility, laying waste lands and carrying off cattle. In the southern provinces, columns of 2000 or 3000 peasants, armed with axes, scythes and pitchforks, are marching through districts, which hitherto have been calm.

VIBORG (Finland), March 20.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Gov. Misasodoff was shot and seriously wounded today by a boy. The assassin, who is about fifteen years old, obtained an entrance to the Governor's office and fired three times at him, one bullet inflicting a serious wound and the others slightly wounding the Governor's legs.

The Governor's clerk and secretary were unable to stop the would-be assassin, who reached the street, where, however, he was arrested without a struggle.

The Governor's condition is critical. The youth who shot the Governor has been identified as Mattie Hjalmar Reinkens, and admits that he is a revolutionist. He hails from the southwestern part of Finland, but recently has been living in Stockholm to avoid arrest on account of his known revolutionary ideas. He returned four days ago to Finland by way of Turku and arrived at Viborg, where he was arrested on his stopping place.

Gov. Misasodoff has been most energetic in the Russianification of Finland since he came to the post. He has petitioned his removal on account of his alleged illegal methods and the general conditions in his province, which were pronounced intolerable.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon Reinkens gained access to the Governor's office and fired a shot from the threshold. Then, advancing, he fired two more, after which he jumped under the Governor's writing table, with his pistol, and held up the clerks who were rushing in, and managed to reach the street. Secret service men, who were summoned to his aid, and the would-be assassin was captured. Reinkens, who lost one of his arms recently in a railway accident, was asked if his name was Reinkens, he replied: "The police of Helsinki know me, my motive and the Governor's record."

The crime was committed with an automatic pistol of the same type as was used by one with which the assassin General Solonnen, the Procurator-General of Finland, February 6.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 20.—Lithuania, the last of the non-Russian provinces, to formulate demands for the restoration of its ancient privileges, asks equality with the Russian inhabitants in the matter of the purchase and leasing of land, freedom of religion, recognition of the Lithuanian language in all public business and in the courts, and that knowledge of the language be made obligatory upon all Russian officials coming in contact with the Lithuanian population.

Court Tolstoy, an interview with Tolstoy at length his views on the inefficiency of the proposed government reform. He says: "This is a renewal of the state is impossible until the people have within themselves the image of the living God. The idealization has become a curse. When the war with Japan is finished there will be war with India for Tibet. Human happiness is only attainable when each individual will do his utmost, one in the workshop, another in the field, and another to compose music; it only matters that each fulfill his duty, creating a priesthood. Positive rest will come in itself. Reform is of little value when humanity is savage."

BOSTON, March 20.—James D. Cole, an attorney, has been appointed receiver for the property of Charles F. Berry, clerk and accountant for a Court-street legal firm, who, it is alleged, has disappeared, leaving his accounts in a tangled shape. Several large estates valued at $200,000, are said to be involved.

It is said that Berry went away in February, and when he did not return explain his absence, an investigation of his accounts was begun. It is alleged that the expert accountants who examined the books could not straighten them and representatives of estates involved applied to the courts for relief. The Supreme Court issued an injunction restraining Berry from continuing as trustee of the Andrew H. Newhall estate, valued at $110,000, and appointed Cole receiver for Berry's personal property and for all the estates under his care. The Superior Court also issued a restraining injunction on application of persons representing the estate of Caroline H. Riverdale of Cork, Ireland, valued at $18,000.

NEW YORK, March 20.—A secret conference has been held between D. W. Considerable discussion was held out to the men, many of whom are now out of work. Hurley said those who were not concerned in the strike will be protected.

"Members of 100 have," he said, "acknowledged that they did wrong and have expressed a willingness to make proper amends. I think that finally everything will be settled satisfactorily to all concerned and the division rehabilitated in time."

"Members of the division not concerned in the strike will be taken care of in other divisions, but the division itself cannot be restored and the members purged of their misdeeds until the assembly of the Grand Convention in May, 1916, in Memphis."

Each member stated that he had voted to strike understandingly and unanimously, and that Chief Engineer Jencks had not endeavored to influence the men either way. The suggestion that somebody had profited by the calling off of the strike was set aside, it was declared, as too ridiculous for serious consideration.

WHAT DEATH CAME HERE?

Poison in Scholtens's Bed, but None in Him.

Concussion of Brain Verdict Deepens Mystery.

Many Theories of Aged Man's End, All Untenable.

The singular death of an old man, William Scholtens, in the Terre Haute lodging house on East First street, offers a chance for a great piece of analytical detective work.

Every ordinary theory of death, after you follow it a little, seems to run against some snag that renders it untenable.

The coroner's jury yesterday deepened the mystery by finding, as a result of plain evidence to that effect, that Scholtens died of concussion of the brain and not of poison as supposed.

This, instead of clearing up the case, makes it amazing.

About this point in the Edgar Allen Poe stories, they always say: "Let us see the circumstances that preceded this."

Scholtens was sober and respectable. He had been a railroad, but for two years had been living with his daughter, Mrs. Aldrich, at No. 423 Ducommun street. Since the death of his wife a year or two ago, he had been inconsiderable. His family used to say that "father" had never been the same after she died.

He was in the habit of taking trips to San Diego. Week ago yesterday he left with $100 in his pocket for San Diego. His family noticed nothing unusual about him.

Saturday afternoon about 5 o'clock he went to the Terre Haute lodging house on East First street and asked for accommodations. The proprietor was not in; his daughter, Mrs. Frederick Kemp, a night clerk, was told that he could have a bed in a room with others or he could have a room alone. He chose the room alone.

Nothing unusual was noted in his appearance or conduct. The clerk remembers that he could not spell the name, and the old man dictated it to him for the register.

The night clerk told him he could be shown to his room any time he liked. The old man said he was very tired and would go at once, although it was but 5 o'clock.

Some time previous to that he called at a grocery store on Temple street and ordered a small lot of groceries sent to an address on Court street. The police have found that Scholtens was not known there.

CONVULSIONS AND DEATH.

About 2 o'clock Sunday morning other lodgers in the Terre Haute house heard a groaning that was finally traced to the old man's room. Several of them went out into the hall, among them Sam Bentley, who is an employee of the City Water Department.

Bentley says they found the door of the room but could not get in. Some one got a key and put in the key hole, but found the door had been locked from the inside and the key was still in the lock.

They went around to the window. The blinds, old-fashioned of the Ten outside blinds, were closed, but the window on the inside was partly up from the bottom. Bentley crawled in.

Scholtens was lying on his back in bed in convulsions. His arms were moving up and down in convulsive jerks, and he was kicking.

The lodgers rushed in all directions to get the police. They returned presently and found the old man dead.

While they stood over him they made several efforts to get him to tell what was the matter, but he made no answer. There were no traces of any violence in the room. Several medicine bottles were on the dresser, which stood diagonally across a corner of the room between the door and the window. No money was found, although Scholtens had always carried a pipe and tobacco and was never known to be without either. No pipe and no tobacco were found upon him. There was no money in his clothes.

On the other hand, against the idea of robbery, was his watch lying on the dresser within easy reach of the window. It was a cheap gold-filled case.

NO POISON; BLUE MARKS.

After the body had been taken away, an old bedmaker named Johnson, who has been working around the Terre Haute for years, found a whisky flask nearly empty, but with crystals of strychnine in the bottom. It was lying between the sheets in the bed where the old man lay.

All this looked so much like a plain case of suicide by the poison route, that it was so reported, and nothing more thought of it until the autopsy physician employed by the coroner made a surprising discovery. Not a trace of poison was in the old man's system. His brain showed a concussion, however, such as might result from a fall or from a blow. On his face and wrists were blue marks like bruises.

It is claimed that he had the marks when he went to the Terre Haute, but the night clerk says he did not see them; he says, however, that he did not pay particular attention to the old man.

Scholtens's daughter, who is almost sick with grief, makes a statement that adds still more to the confusion. She says her father was what she calls a "bilious nature"; she says he has always had just such marks on his body, coming first in one place and then another, and going away again, caused presumably by poor circulation.

THEORIES KNOWN.

The undertakers who dressed the body state that the bruises were not of a character that would bear out the daughter's theory; they were scratched bruises, with the flesh contused. They were like finger marks.

She has an idea that he died a natural death, neither of violence nor of suicide, yet seems to think it queer that his money and his pipe were gone. Her idea is that he came back from San Diego Saturday and felt too tired to go home, so took the room at the Terre Haute for the night.

The objection to this idea is that his own home is nearer the depot than the Terre Haute house.

Mrs. Aldrich considers the presence of the bottles in the room a strange circumstance, particularly the one believed to contain medicine, but which has not yet been examined. She says her father never took medicine that way, and never had it standing around; she thinks the bottles must have belonged to some other lodger and perhaps were left in the room.

If this were so there ought to be another suicide victim, as the poison bottle in the bed had been emptied; what became of the owner of the bottles? According to her theory there ought to be another man filled with a bottle of strychnine.

1902	31,251 copies
1903	36,657 copies

The average for every day of January and February, 1905, was $1,814, an average daily gain over 1904 of $112 copies.

QUESTIONS RAISED. These circumstances, taken all together, appear to raise these questions to be solved:

If he was murdered, how was his door locked from the inside and why were there no traces of a struggle? Why didn't the other lodgers hear it? What was the poison doing there in his bed?

If he had been attacked before going to the hotel, why did he not tell about it, instead of crawling off to bed? If he was robbed why did the robbers take an article of so small a value as a pipe, and leave the watch?

Everything points to suicide, but here is the doctor's positive statement and the jury's verdict that he had taken no poison, but died of concussion of the brain.

LOCAL RAILROAD RECORD.

TOURIST TIDE SETS TWO WAYS.

RUSH HOMEWARD OFFSET BY COLONISTS' ARRIVAL.

Travelers Gather Nerve With Clearing of Skies and of Blockades on Railroads that Have Held Them Prisoners—Big Demand for Sleepers—Law on Hogs and Humans.

With the clearing of the skies and the opening of all railroad lines to traffic, travelers recovered their nerve yesterday and there was a rush of tourists returning to the East. It really was the beginning of the tide, although it by no means indicates that the season is anywhere near at end.

In a way the "season" has just begun, for, with every outgoing tourist there arrive two or three who are attracted either by the low colonist rates from the East. The $23 rate from Chicago and $25 rate from the Missouri River are magnets that are drawing a horde greater by far than that which came with the beginning of cold weather across the Rockies.

The time has come in east-bound travel, however, when it is necessary for the traveler to reserve his sleeping accommodations far in advance if he would obtain the lower section, or drawing-room that he desires. Reservations are made weeks in advance.

Much travel is held back, though, by the prospective opening of the Yosemite Park on April 1. Many tourists who came into Los Angeles over the southern routes plan to return by way of San Francisco, and representatives of various cities in the north are here to exploit the attractions of their respective territories.

Already the railroad lines are increasing their equipment on trains bound east via the various routes, but the rush is not expected to become so great that extra trains will need to be run.

Reports from eastern connections are to the effect that the colonist travel is heavier than any time ever before. Actual settlers are said to be coming in increasing numbers, the proportion shifting, however, from the greater than in former years, according to railroad agents.

LAW FOR ANIMALS.

NONE FOR PASSENGERS.

Owing to the fact that the railroad companies provided food, or attempted to do so in many cases, to passengers on trains delayed by the storm blockade of last week, the impression was general that this was done in accordance with a State law, or more particularly a California statute, and it was so stated in The Times.

A prominent railroad attorney dispelled this notion yesterday, however, by saying that no such law exists in California, nor, so far as he knows, in any State.

It is declared that railroad companies are not obliged to provide food for passengers on delayed trains, no matter how great the delay may be, although most lines consider it good policy to furnish meals when obtainable.

A United States statute, however, as well as Interstate Commerce regulation and many State laws, require that live stock in transit (cattle, hogs, horses, etc.), shall not be allowed to be in transit more than twenty-eight hours without food, water and rest.

WHAT IS CATARRH?

Myomei Cures this Common and Disagreeable Disease.

Myomei cures catarrh by the simple method of breathing it into the air passages and lungs. It kills the germs of the catarrhal poison, heals and soothes the irritated mucous membrane, enters the blood with the oxygen and kills the germs present there, effectually driving this disease from the system.

If you have any of the following symptoms, catarrhal germs are at work somewhere in the mucous membrane of the nose, throat, bronchial tubes or tissues of the lungs:

offensive breath discharge from the nose
stiffness of the throat stinging pain across the eyes stinging pain in the back of the throat stinging pain in the chest stinging pain in the stomach stinging pain in the lungs stinging pain in the heart stinging pain in the liver stinging pain in the spleen stinging pain in the pancreas stinging pain in the gall bladder stinging pain in the kidneys stinging pain in the bladder stinging pain in the rectum
stinging pain in the uterus
stinging pain in the vagina stinging pain in the cervix
stinging pain in the ovaries
stinging pain in the fallopian tubes
stinging pain in the uterus
stinging pain in the vagina
stinging pain in the cervix
stinging pain in the ovaries
stinging pain in the fallopian tubes

Myomei will cure the disease, destroy the activity of all germ life in the respiratory organs, enrich and purify the blood with additional ozone, and after a few days use of this treatment the majority of those symptoms will have disappeared.

In a few weeks the cure will be complete.

Druggists everywhere are authorized to refund the money should a Myomei outfit and one extra bottle fail to afford relief.

If the druggist from whom you bought does not care to do this, mail the inhaler to the R. T. Booth Co., Ithaca, N. Y., and they will refund the money at once. Mail orders for Myomei promptly filled in receipt of price.

SONS OF VETERANS.

Arrangements to Receive the Commander-in-Chief of the Order Are Given Attention.

At a well-attended meeting of W. S. Rosecrans Camp, No. 2, Sons of Veterans, U.S.A., last night, much business relating to the camp and the division of California was transacted, and arrangements were outlined for the proposed reception: Past Division Commander J. A. Medlar, Past Camp Commander George W. Conant and Junior Vice Camp Commander Harry Fitch.

The camp will, through Commander Munsey, invite the cooperation of other Southern California camps, as well as of the Grand Army posts and their auxiliaries, and much interest is being manifested as it will be the first time that the official head of the Order of Sons of Veterans, U.S.A., has made a trip to the Pacific Coast.

Chief Dustin is a veteran of the Civil War, as well as a Son of a Veteran.

A committee of five members of the camp was also appointed to act in conjunction with the general committee of the G. A. R. in relation to the observance of Memorial Day.

FOR REUNION.

A call has been issued for a reunion of all former residents of Chautauqua county, N. Y., and any Chautauqua county people who may be temporarily sojourning here. The reunion will be the form of a basket picnic at Eastlake Park on next Saturday, March 25, at 11 a.m. In case of rain the picnic to be deferred till the following Monday.

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Volunteers of America.

Rev. E. A. Healy will preach in the hall of Volunteers of America, No. 123 East First street, this evening at 8 o'clock. The music will be in charge of H. E. Staples.

Bankrupt Pasadena.

Nicholas Schwegel, a Pasadena upholsterer, yesterday filed a petition in bankruptcy in the United States District Court. His indebtedness amounts to $2917; fixtures and stock to $1900, and bills accounts outstanding about $500.

Buys on Bonnie Bros.

M. M. Roberts has purchased of John R. Althouse, through the agency of Althouse Bros., an eight-room two-story frame dwelling at No. 738 South Bonnie Bros. street, for $65100 net; consideration named, $6500.

Robbed a Restaurant.

Burglars forced an entrance into the restaurant at No. 312 West Seventh street some time Sunday night, stole the contents of the cash drawer, amount unknown, and a quantity of cigars. They left the place open and it was found later by a policeman.

For Mrs. Hince.

The ladies of the Fremont Hotel have made up a purse of $50 and delivered the money to Mrs. Hince, whose home on Boyle Heights was destroyed by the recent floods. The Times has received numerous liberal donations which have been turned over to her. Mrs. Hince has suitably expressed her gratitude for the contributions.

Up Goes Rio Colorado.

The Colorado River appears to be mounting skyward. A dispatch was received at the office of the United States Geological Survey in this city yesterday from J. C. Clausen, assistant at Yuma, Ariz., dated 9:42 a.m. The dispatch read: "River at thirty feet. Still rising. Everything OK." A message wired to The Times and dated 11:35 a.m. gives the height of the river at that hour as 36 feet, 3 inches.

Blaze on Brooklyn Heights.

Fire of unknown origin almost destroyed the one-story frame dwelling at No. 424 Echandia street at 10:40 o'clock last night. The house was occupied by Bert and family. They were about to retire when the fire was discovered. The flames spread with such rapidity that it was impossible to save all of the household goods. The loss will amount to nearly $1000, of which $250 is on the building and the balance on the contents. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

Newsboys at the Grand.

Twenty-five of the liveliest newsboys in Los Angeles occupied front seats in the balcony of the Grand Theater last night, as guests of the Times-Mirror Company, and thoroughly enjoyed the performance. The newsboys J. M. Buck was in charge of the party, and there was no more enthusiastic crowd of spectators anywhere in the house. The "newsies" always applauded just at the right time and nearly raised the roof when the villain was finally despatched and virtue triumphed over vice. The first three rows of seats in the balcony have been reserved for these lads and other street merchants of The Times every Monday night for some time to come.

BREVITIES.

Today, commencing at 2:30 and again at 8 p.m. in the banquet hall of the Angeles Hotel, will be held the most remarkable sale in auction ever attempted in Los Angeles. The pick of the finest rugs from the collection of rare antiques which has been on exhibition and sale during the past week will be offered. Many prominent people who will attend the sale have selected the rugs they intend to bid on. The class of rugs to be sold at this sale will include only the very finest and most expensive. Among them are many notable pieces of rare Persian, Turkish, and Chinese rugs, and Kermanshah, antique silk Serapende and Iran, several small silk rugs and the most beautiful silk carpet ever brought here. Last evening the cream of Los Angeles attended the sale, the bidding was spirited and the goods the most handsome ever exhibited in this city. The sale was a record-breaker, as none of the rugs selected are valued in the thousands. The rugs are most artistically displayed, and will be on exhibition up to the hour of sale. The banquet hall is now a veritable dream of the Orient, and no one who is at all interested in antique rugs should miss this opportunity of seeing what fine rugs really are.

ORCHARD RUNS WEIRD RACE.

LAST IN PREVIOUS ATTEMPT AND FIRST YESTERDAY.

Not One Favorite Lands Right in Six Races and Bettors Have Hard Day—Three Events go to Good Things—Fair-sized Crowd Sees the Sport.

The old in-and-out Orchard, who ran absolutely last in the fourth race on Saturday, was beaten fifteen lengths in a mile and a sixth race, came out yesterday at Ascot Park and won at the same distance in half a second better time and thereby gave the form players another hard day. The subject of how not to succeed in past performances; same old story. This "victory" is only another illustration of how very funny this beast runs at times and how impossible it is to keep a line on him. He is possibly one of the form students may yet devise a scheme to fit the particular kind of weird beast of which Orchard is a sample and it is to be hoped this will some time be done.

The Orchard victory was the weird feature of the ordinary card yesterday and the books must have made a good clean-up on it. For the bulk of the money was placed on Atlantic and he won in a two-three-four-five-six-seven-eight-nine-ten-odd.

Various other jockeys at the track, Miller on Atlantic didn't try very hard, but he did try to win. He was played, and the best that Atlantic could do was to run fourth. Kuns on Borghesi is a poor excuse for a jockey and would do well to consider himself as trying to ride them in a race.

The second dump of the day was in the third race, where the favorite, Bronse Wing, at 8 to 1, and here Miller tried to win and did. Warte Nicht was put up as a good thing, but was the post horse and burnt up a lot of money. The third dump for the sports came in the last race, where the favorite, Gene Handlon, running fourth and the well-placed second choice, Sea Sick, third, and the third choice, Gentle Hero in the first running third, Albert P. in the second running third, and Gene Handlon fourth in the fourth race, Bronse Wing second in the fifth and Gene Handlon fourth in the sixth race. Every winner was at a good price, but with four or five favorites winning on last Saturday it was not to be expected the victory would be yesterday. There are, but two more weeks of the "sport" and form players will do well to "look a leetle odd" for themselves.

EDITORIAL SECTION—PART II, LOCAL SHEET

BUSINESS.

Dullness in trading and narrowness in fluctuations characterized the day on the New York Stock Exchange. Some promise of relief to the money market was found in the break of sterling exchange. The demand for grain at Chicago was not urgent. May closed at 114 3/4 and July at 92 3/8-92 1/2.

TODAY'S BOND ELECTION.

The voters of Los Angeles are called upon today to determine whether bonds shall be issued by the municipality to the amount of $750,000 to provide for the enlargement of school facilities within the city. It is true—as the taxpayers of the city are well aware—that the bonded indebtedness of the municipality is already large; also that the demands of one kind and another upon the city's income are at present heavy, and prospectively heavier in the future. Nevertheless, it is a fact that we must have schools, even if we are forced to deny ourselves some other things which we deem necessary.

There are many citizens who complain of the methods which obtain in our present system of education, and declare that the schools are unnecessarily expensive because of the large amount of room required for the teaching of cooking, sewing,loyd, and numerous other so-called facts. It must be confessed that these complaints are not wholly without foundation. But we have allowed the present system, with its obvious faults, to grow up to its existing proportions, and there is apparently no way to meet the emergency but to provide the Board of Education with the large sums which it declares to be necessary for the continuance of educational work under the existing system. Even the most reluctant taxpayer will be slow to dispute this proposition.

At all events, the question of issuing the school bonds asked for is up to the voters for decision. As the taxpayers of the city must pay interest on the bonds, and must eventually pay the principal also, every taxpayer should regard it as a sacred duty to go to the polls today and render his personal verdict in the manner required by law, and according to the dictates of his conscience. Whatever may be the verdict, a full vote should be polled. Under no circumstances should this important election be allowed to go by default. It is the duty of every voter who has opinions on the subject to go to the polls today and express them by ballot.

Two-thirds of the votes cast must be in the affirmative in order to carry the proposition for bonds. This fact should be borne in mind by all who favor the bonds and by those who oppose them. It is not believed that there will be serious opposition to the proposition, for the rapid increase of school population has rendered an increase of school accommodations imperative.

If the bonds are voted, it is proposed to use $400,000 of the money for the erection or extension of grammar schools, $400,000 for the erection of a correctional or "parental" school, and the remainder, $350,000, for completing the new polytechnic school and improving the High School. The necessity for the proposed expenditure on the grammar schools is generally conceded. The High School is much overcrowded, and new pupils are constantly going to it from the graded schools, so that its enlargement appears to be an unavoidable necessity. As to the polytechnic school, having already expended some $250,000 upon it, we cannot well abandon it if we would; and the voters will probably decide that we would not if we could.

If the people vote this large amount of money for school extensions, they will have a right to demand that the money shall be expended judiciously, that it shall be made to go as far as possible, in the erection of plain, substantial buildings, adapted to the uses for which they are intended; also that the ideas of plain, sensible, substantial architecture shall be adhered to as far as possible, in making extensions to buildings already standing. None of the public money should be expended in gaudy architecture, fancy finishing, or fancy furnishing. Utility with reasonable economy should be the watchword. Never before has this city had a school board composed of men of such established reputation for business ability and integrity as those of the present board. The people will have reason to feel confident that funds which may come into their hands will be honestly and judiciously administered.

We are ready for the question. Let the people decide.

TROUBLESOME VENEZUELA.

Of President Castro of Venezuela it may be said, in the language of the old Roman proverb, that "whom the gods wish to destroy, they first drive mad." Within a year or so of a patched up peace with Germany and England, the military dictator of the incoercible republic appears to be picking quarrels deliberately and impartially with the commercial representatives of all the other powers. Some months ago he began by seizing the asphalt works of a United States corporation, last week came the turn of the French company operating the cable to have its concession annulled and its property declared forfeit, and yesterday in swift succession followed the announcement that an Italian firm developing coal mines leased by the government had been forcibly dispossessed. In the last two cases, as at present reported, there has been not even the pretense of judicial proceedings, the cause of complaint never having been brought before any tribunal. In the other case, the one directly affecting the United States, a somewhat more regular course has been pursued, but as the courts of the country are at the back and call of Gen. Castro, judges retained in office solely at his good will, the formality really counts for little or nothing.

At this time, with only incomplete information available, there can be no opinion expressed on the merits of any one of the cases individually. In the aggregate, however, they present a gravely disquieting situation. It seems almost incredible that Frenchmen, Italians and Americans are all in the wrong, and that only President Castro has right, as for the moment he has might, on his side. If he were a man of blameless rectitude, even a true although a rash and misguided patriot, the world at large might be inclined to wait patiently for his explanations before forming an unfavorable opinion of his latest high-handed proceedings. But during a long cycle of almost continuous civil war, it has become notorious that government in Venezuela simply means plunder and extortion by the gang that secures temporary ascendancy. The spoils of war, not merely the political spoils, that may be discreetly gathered without violation of the law, are for the "ins"; the hush, the pains and penalties of soulless despotism are for the "outs."

On the broad grounds of universal philanthropy it is a pitiful spectacle to see a land, favored by climate and rich in natural resources, thus given over to the eternal restlessness that inevitably means poverty and misery for the masses, while the corrupt clique in power sits fat on the profits of misgovernment. Even if the case as Castro is playing for ambition rather than merely grabbing for the plunder to be made out of the game, their crime against humanity is none the less heinous. They are desperate gamblers whose success means nothing but suffering to tens of thousands of innocent people among their own countrymen. Business is paralyzed, credit destroyed, capital frightened away, and in the result men, women and children go hungry and in rags.

But also on the lower grounds of expediency, on the principle of safeguarding her own particular interests, the United States cannot stand idly by, an unprotesting witness of the Venezuelan march toward chaos and national collapse. Whether we like it or not, trouble of this kind in a South American republic brings the Monroe doctrine into the forefront of international questions. This doctrine is our national policy of insurance against future complications that might jeopardize our security, and even involve us in the loss of countless treasure, and of priceless blood. No insurance policy can be maintained without paying the premium. The premium in the Venezuelan case, as in the case of Santo Domingo, is determination and preparation to intervene, however great may be our reluctance to do so. President Castro cannot be allowed to cast his country to the dogs without action on the part of the United States, for this would mean casting the Monroe doctrine to the dogs as well. That we cannot afford, and shall never afford, happily, no single European power, feeling itself aggrieved by the treatment it is now receiving in Venezuela, evinces the slightest disposition to get around the Monroe doctrine and bring down the mailed fist without consulting the United States government. Their complaints are being referred less to Caracas than to Washington, and in the latter city, no doubt, a diplomatic way out of the imbroglio will be devised, with trouble perhaps for President Castro and Venezuela, but with the Monroe doctrine held inviolate as the one prime essential of the settlement.

FEDERATION BUTTS IN.

Before adjourning sine die, the executive council of the American Federation of Labor adopted resolutions providing that the federation shall attempt to build in when it comes to the adoption of a constitution for Indian Territory and Oklahoma, when those Territories shall enter Statehood. The idea seems not to have occurred to the proponents of this unwarranted intervention that the people residing in those two Territories will naturally and rightfully desire to have something to say about the provisions of their constitution. As usual, the labor bosses propose to be "the whole thing," and to dictate laws for the government of other people.

One provision which these labor bosses (who toll not, neither do they spin) desire to have incorporated into the constitution of the new State, proposes the establishment of the eight-hour day. They intend, doubtless, to make it unlawful for any workman to work more than eight hours in the twenty-four. Now, an eight-hour law is all well enough if it be not made compulsory upon employers and employees to adhere to it. But if an employer desires to work more than eight hours per day, he has an inalienable right to do so, any law which prohibits his doing so is a manifest wrong, and an unwarranted infringement upon individual rights.

Those who insist upon working only eight hours per day have an inalienable right to their opinion, and a right to put it into practice, provided they can find employers who are willing to enter into the arrangement. But the State has no moral right to step between employer and employee and say "you shall, or you shall not." If it is right to work one hour or eight hours per day, it is right to work more than eight hours per day, provided both parties to the agreement are willing.

When the law has declared that no person can be compelled to work more than eight hours per day, it has gone to the limit of its prohibitory authority. It can no more say, with propriety, that a man shall not work a certain number of hours, than it can say that he shall not take more than a specified time to eat his dinner.

Again, these labor bosses desire to have imbedded in the fundamental law, provisions for the "initiative," the "referendum," and the "imperative mandate." Nothing could be more unwise than to incorporate these provisions into the organic law of any State. They are at best mere fanciful experiments, and so far as they have been tried in practical experience, given on a small scale, they have proved anything but successful. It has been demonstrated, indeed, that they can be used dishonestly and for dishonest purposes. They are expensive experiments, too, and if put into operation in a State (especially in a new and only partly organized State), their operation would be very likely to bankrupt the State treasury and burden the taxpayers with intolerable burdens.

Another constitutional provision which these unauthorized meddlers propose to demand is that "the power of the civil authorities shall never be exercised by the military." This sounds innocent enough. But upon slight analysis its vicious character stands revealed. It means, when rightly interpreted, that the militia shall not be used for the purpose of quelling riots. To quell riots and maintain the public peace is the proper function of the civil authorities; but when a riot, or any sort of disorder, assumes proportions which render it virtually impossible for the civil authorities to maintain the peace, it becomes an imperative duty, under the Constitution of the United States, for military power to step in, restore order, uphold the law, and protect the rights of all concerned.

Civil law is never suspended except upon the most urgent necessity, when martial law is absolutely necessary for the suppression of crime and the maintenance of order. The proposal to nullify the power to bring military aid to the support of civil authority, in cases of urgency, is dangerous, anarchical in its tendencies, and diametrically opposed to the spirit and letter of the Constitution of the United States. It shows in the United States, the readiness of labor organizations, as at present constituted and governed, to defy constitutions and to trample upon all laws, human and divine, in an effort to uphold the mythical, nonexistent "right to riot."

OUR DELIGHTFUL CALAMITY.

As we might have anticipated, exaggerated dispatches have gone East regarding the severity of and havoc wrought by the recent storm in Southern California. To dwell upon the loss of life by drowning—there were two cases of very doubtful authenticity—the collapse of Seventh street bridge, it was already undermined by sand and water, and the pier, the downpour of 3 1/2 inches of rain in twenty-four hours; the stalled railroad trains resulting from washouts; the interrupted telegraphic service, cutting us off for a day from our eastern sympathizers; and (judicial of this morose region) a Methodist church actually struck by lightning; all these lively episodes of our dreary and welcome storm are diluted upon with uncoated glee by the eastern newspaper paragraphers.

Let our eastern friends who are dreading the best they can get used to blizzards, cyclones, deadly thunderstorms, overwhelming floods, key payments, alternating with horrible slush, Arctic cold in winter and prostrating heat in summer, been in Los Angeles or any neighboring town, they would have seen how jauntily we took our miniature flood and the petty little inconveniences it entailed. When a strenuous condition of the atmosphere with extraordinary accompaniments of rain overcasts our usually serene skies for a day or two, or an accented soughy gathers force enough to sway our tall eucalyptus trees till they resemble waving plumes, and these playful phenomena come along only once in a generation, the affair only contributes to the spice of conversation and becomes an event of sufficient gravity to date other events from many years thereafter.

Among the bills recently signed by Governor F. F. Fletcher, a measure "to sell tickets to a theater or other public place of amusement for more than the original price thereof." The intent of this measure is apparently all right. But it will hardly bear judicial inspection. To an unprejudiced observer it would seem that a ticket to a theater or other place of amusement is a piece of personal property, as much as a jackknife, and how can a man legally be forbidden to sell a jackknife, or any other kind of property for more than he paid for it? Speculating on theater tickets is condemned as a crime, and if a ticket can be made to hold water, it will doubtless prove a public benefit.

The Democratic ex-Governor of Colorado hopes "to see the hour when retribution will come down upon those men of Colorado who are controlled by corporations and serve these corporations as puppets." So says the Governor. At the same time, we hope to see the time when the blindfolded lady of the scales will size up at their true worth those men of Colorado, who are controlled by trades unions as their masters. About the time when this process begins, Brother Alva and some of his associates will be taking to the tallest timber to be found in the Centennial State.

Everybody will be pleased to learn that the adjustment of a great wrong without making an appropriation for the recovery of the remains of Paul Jones will not put a stop to the search which has been prosecuted so industriously by Ambassador Porter for the past six years. Mr. Porter has paid all expenses of the search thus far, and it was a rather shabby thing for Congress to leave him in the lurch. But never failing in his duty, the House of Lords that if the Austro-Russian reform scheme did not succeed, more drastic measures would be taken, and the House of Commons that it was making good this undertaking. Should nothing be done, there is every likelihood, now that the restraining influence of the war has been removed, that there will be war in the spring between Bulgaria and Turkey.

EXIT THE MAD MULLAH.

The City Council is right in taking a very deliberate course with regard to the solution of the garbage problem. It is always easier to rectify mistakes before they are made than after. Their policy will reject if the City Fathers, the audience before the Council, a well-ripened decision—and then insist that whatever is done be done right. The garbage policy of the Council in times past has been exceedingly sloppy.

That new library in Central Park will be a good opposite for the new convention hall, and it is as though the world would have upon the horizon about the same time. The selection of a library site in the park is now a thing accomplished, and it is to be hoped that the breaking of ground will soon follow.

President Castro is getting somewhat reckless again, and if he doesn't look out he will get himself into trouble with the "crowned heads." Uncle Sam cannot always stand sponsor for the unruly kid, and it may become necessary to allow him to get a spanking before he gets into more serious trouble.

"I come to you defeated, but my hands are clean," said ex-Gov. Alva Adams to his "constituents" on his return to Pueblo. Not quite so fast, Alva. Your hands did not altogether come clean before the people. The thousands of fraudulent votes in Denver and elsewhere in Colorado.

Alva Adams declares that he "would rather be robbed than to rob." All right, brother. You and your supporters have had experience at both ends of the game.

In the meantime, however, it will, perhaps, be just as well to have a warship or two "maneuvering" in the Caribbean, not too far from Venezuela.

The Governor is not saying much about what he is not going to do, but evidently is thinking a lot.

The beneficiaries of the Legislature's salary-raising bills may now slide off the anxious seat.

True to His Art.

The hero of the play, after putting up a stiff fight with the villain, had died a tragic death.

The audience insisted on his coming before the curtain.

He refused to appear.

But the audience still insisted.

Then the manager, a gentleman with a strong accent, came to the front.

"Ladies and gentlemen," he said, "the corpse thanks you kindly, and he begs to leave you to stay dead, begone!"—(Chicago Tribune.)

Taken Lots of Time.

Mr. Gorkins: Gwendolyn, that young man of yours has been calling on you for more than a year, now. He hasn't proposed yet, but he's about to. You're giving him his walking papers.

Gwen Gorkins: Oh, papa, you must give him time! Time? Great Scott, isn't a year—

Gwen Gorkins: But papa, he stutters.—(Cleveland Leader.)

ACROSS THE WIDE SEAS.

While the world is watching the titanic struggle in the Far East, attention is diverted from Macedonia, where still is going on the old, old story of miracle and shimmering revolt, outrage, rapine and murder. Only a brief sketch of the Macedonian situation is given in the important report of Balkan, fought Turkish gendarmes until their leader, Apostol, one of the chief organizers of the long-standing insurrection, and twenty-five of his thirty followers were killed. The Bulgarians had been transporting ammunition to one of their mountain strongholds. A stirring story and a pitiful story! But the holocaust in Manchuria crowds it into a corner of the daily newspapers, and the world takes no notice.

REFORM THAT FAILED.

And this is only one of a score of tragedies, some of them on a still bigger scale, that have been enacted in Macedonia since the beginning of the year. The Austro-Bulgarian reform scheme, acceded to by the European powers a year ago, has proved a dismal failure. Both Austria and Russia, the two nations that undertook the responsibility of seeing the terms of the agreement carried out, have had their attention directed to their own affairs. If Russia has found herself in a dangerous fix, Austria is also in sorry plight, torn with internal racial dissension, and the combination of these circumstances has resulted in the inevitable lapse from bad to worse; there has been no effective supervision, and consequently no real attempt on the part of the Turk to bring order out of chaos in the First Empire.

FOR A CHRISTIAN GOVERNOR.

An appeal is now being voiced in London for the appointment of a European Governor of Macedonia, independent of the Sultan, and responsible to all the great powers. This is a comprehensive one of a formal separation of the disturbed provinces. Lord Lansdowne, the British Foreign Secretary, made a year ago in the House of Lords that if the Austro-Russian reform scheme did not succeed, more drastic measures would be taken, and the House of Commons that it was making good this undertaking. Should nothing be done, there is every likelihood, now that the restraining influence of the war has been removed, that there will be war in the spring between Bulgaria and Turkey.

TWO GIRLS ARE NOW MISSING.

STRANGE DISAPPEARANCES IN SAN BERNARDINO.

Neighbors Think that Hypnotic Influences Have Something to Do With the Mystery—One of Them Left Note With Mother—Robbers Shake Hands With Victim.

SAN BERNARDINO, March 20.—Nothing as yet has been heard from Angeline Watson, the sixteen-year-old girl who disappeared from her home last Tuesday afternoon, and the neighbors and friends of the girl declare that "Prof." Payne and his power as a hypnotist have something to do with her disappearance. It has developed that she left a note to her mother, which declared that she was tired of being dependent upon others and as she had found a means of support she would go away, and that when she had become rich she would write.

"Don't look for me, mamma dear," the note concludes, "for no one can find me, and I will be safe from harm."

ANOTHER DISAPPEARANCE.

Still another disappearance has been reported. A woman named Keller has been searching since Wednesday for her daughter, Lucy, about 16 years old, and a schoolgirl. The two cases are strikingly similar, though so far as known the Keller girl did not know "Prof." Payne, and her aged mother believes she has taken employment as a servant somewhere in town. With eyes streaming with tears the mother sought from door to door for some trace of the girl, declaring that the child had broken her heart. Not a trace of her either has been seen since Wednesday. Many people believe she and the Watson girl are together with Payne.

ASSAULT—LARCENY—KNIFE.

Joe Florio, who made a vicious assault upon S. M. Davis a night of the 13th inst., will be arraigned in the Superior Court next week, together with Frank Holmes, charged with grand larceny, in having stolen a motor car belonging to F. T. Peria, general manager of the Santa Fe oil properties. William Green, who attacked Fred Weaverling with a knife, and beyond Daggett, will be tried on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon before Judge Oster Tuesday.

HIGHER COURT—HASKELL CASE.

The Supreme Court has issued an alternative writ of mandate on the petition of C. C. Haskell to the city clerk to compel him to appear and show cause why he should not be compelled to place the Republican ticket on the official ballot for the next municipal election in April. The writ is returnable next Monday, and the city clerk recently handed down by Superior Judge Oster and Bledsoe will be passed upon by the Supreme Court. The Republican ticket on the official ballot has not yet been taken before the Superior Court.

BLIND TRAIL OF ROBBERS.

The Sheriff has been able to get no trace of the three robbers who committed the hold-up in the Kelly merchandise store at Idlewild the other night. Mrs. Kelly says that the robbers took from her $100, which she had been carrying for the money. They informed Kelly that if he kept still about the robbery they would return the money within two weeks, and before leaving the store they shook hands with their victim.

AFTER THE BALL THE DAGGER.

UGLY CUTTING AFFRAY IN THE CITY OF COLTON.

Mexican Returning in the Early Morning from a Dance is Waylaid, Shot and Stabbed by Fellow Countryman—Interest Aroused Over Visit of Salt Lake Officials.

COLTON, March 20.—Stabbed and shot, a Mexican, Placinto Dominguez, lies at the point of death in the Colton Hospital, as a result of a bloody fight in Agua Mansa early Sunday morning. The fight occurred after a Mexican, who was lashed until the early morning, the "belles" of the evening had departed with their escorts and Dominguez was making his way home when he was stopped near M street by two Mexicans, Patronito Zamora and Nicolas Chavez, who it is said have for some time been sworn enemies of his. They had evidently been waiting for him, for without delay they began their bloody work of stabbing and shooting their captive. The companion brought several to the spot, who stopped the fight, but not until Dominguez had fallen almost dead, shot in the hips and stabbed in the breast and other parts of the body.

John Signoli, a Mexican who was informed of the "carving" summoned the marshal who was waiting at the Colton Hospital. It is believed that he may recover.

Zamora and Chavez were this morning brought into court and arraigned charged with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to murder. The time for the preliminary examination was set for April 3.

Dominguez says that he has been followed and threatened by Zamora and Chavez ever since Pedro Chavez, was murdered July 18, 1904, by Raymond Padilla. Dominguez claims that he knows no reason why he was in no way connected with that crime, other than the fact that Padilla, the murderer, was a friend of his and Pedro Chavez, the man who was killed was a cousin of Nicolas Chavez.

OFFICIALS "JUST LOOKING."

Salt Lake officials visited Colton again on Saturday. They were in town all day "looking around." They stated that they were selecting the location for the Armour icing plant which is to be located here. However, it still is generally believed that the Salt Lake company is not arranging for the icing plant alone.

Time Limit Allowed for the Filing of Petitions Passes With All Would-be Office Holders Who Have Come Out, Officially Nominated. Revival Fires to be Fed Yet More.

SANTA ANA, March 20.—Today marked the limit of time allowed for filing petitions for having names placed upon the official ballots for the coming municipal election, and all of the candidates brought out in the past few weeks have filed their petitions with the City Clerk, several of them putting them in at the last minute.

The list of candidates as lined up at present gives John Cubbon, D. L. Anderson and Dr. L. G. Bernick as contestants for place on the Board of Trustees from the First Ward; Col. S. H. Finley and George A. Edgar from the Third Ward; Oscar Gruenewald, S. P. Keeney and James Sleeper from the Fifth Ward, and John Beatty and J. A. Pankey, incumbents, for the two vacancies on the Board of Education. Of the would-be trustees Anderson, Finley and Gruenewald represent the neo-salon element; Edgar, Cubbon and Sleeper are advocates of high license and Prohibition. Finley stands upon a socialistic platform. The contest is conceded to be between the temperance and saloon candidates, for whom spirituous liquors have already been sold by their friends.

The greatest interest of the election, most pronounced even than the contest over trustees, comes in the fight on the prohibition question, which is again submitted to a direct vote of the people. There are about 170 votes in the city according to the Great Register, and each side is making strenuous efforts to carry the day by personal work among voters and by newspaper propaganda.

Functional Decline, Organic Weakness I Completely Cure Without Tonics

This condition is commonly termed "Weakness," and most physicians trace its cause to the prostate gland, for want of better knowledge of the true condition and actual cause. My powerful, stimulating tonics they produce temporary activity, which results in a more weakened condition after the first effects, which is only a drug effect, that should be avoided.

My treatment restores functional order of the highest standard throughout the affected parts. It is the only rational and scientific method yet employed which will produce permanent results in the cure of this so-called Weakness.

Varicocele I cure soundly and completely in 4 to 5 days. My treatment is painless and the only that will preserve and strengthen the reproductive system.

Stricture There is no other treatment with the exception of my own, which cures all cases of stricture, catarrh or inflammation of the urinary tract in a direct result of painful catheterization. I am confident I cure the disease more quickly and thoroughly than any other method. It is the only cure in use, I treat for and I am confident by direct treatment.

Not by Mail This is a matter of guesswork. No one is able to give satisfactory results by such unreliable means. Thousands have tried it and failed. My method of treatment is reliable and gets at the EXACT CAUSE.

VETERANS' BONS KEEP "TEDDY."

LONG BEACH, March 20.—Some time ago J. Hoake, who owns the six-pouner cannon used by the Sons of Veterans, demanded its return or the payment of $150.

The boys had no funds, and had become resigned to the loss of "Teddy Roosevelt," when Capt. Mark T. Berry purchased it and turned it over to the boys in care for and use as they had in the past.

The gun is used on holidays and when there is public need of it, and a movement is on foot to start a popular subscription and relieve Capt. Berry of the burden of paying the entire amount.

HOW TO REPAIR PIER.

Charles W. Corbally, representing the Atlantic Gulf and Pacific Construction Company, builders of the new pier, arrived in the city last night and has spent the day making an examination of the damage done by the recent storm.

He appeared before the City Trustees this evening and advised the immediate replacement of the southeast cylinders. The other missing cylinders, he said, could be dispersed with by the use of a double row of bridge truss rods, which would really be stronger than the three cylinders.

The cost of repairs will not be more than $1500 and the work can be done at once. He also advised driving the cylinder piling on either end of the pier, and the work can be done at once.

His proposition was referred to a committee with power to act.

SAYS CREW WAS MUTINOUS.

BUT SKIPPER CONCLUDES NOT TO PRESS THE CHARGE.

Master of Schooner Oceania Vance Avers that on Voyage to San Pedro Four Members of Vessel's Company Refused to Obey Orders and Threatened Violence.

SAN PEDRO, March 20.—Capt. J. M. Jorgensen of the schooner Oceania Vance, which arrived last Saturday from Portland, experienced a great deal of trouble with four members of the crew on the voyage to this port.

Today he went to Los Angeles to charge G. W. Denver, K. Westerland, C. Sorrensen and E. Brestmann with mutiny on the high seas, alleging that on March 11 and 12 these men refused to obey orders and used violent, profane and threatening language against him and the second mate, Charles R. Fletcher.

Upon finding that the case could not be set until August, Capt. Jorgensen decided not to prosecute it on account of the delay that would be occasioned and contented himself with the discharge of the offending crew.

The cargo of the Oceania Vance is being discharged by the Wilmington Transportation Company.

CATALINA ISLAND.

ISTHMUS TREES PROSTRATED.

AVALON, March 20.—The isthmus has been hard hit during the storm of the past week. The ground, having been made soft by the copious wettings, offered little resistance and when the heavy wind of Thursday night came more than two-thirds of the eucalyptus trees were blown down.

The place looks like devastation as practically the whole planting of 15,000 or 20,000 trees are now prostrated. The pines fared better than the eucalyptus and very few of them were injured, they having better roots and less weight in the tops.

Most of the prostrated trees can be straightened up and made to grow again, but a considerable percentage will be lost and the cost of righting them entail a very considerable expense to the Banning Company. The trees were planted four or five years ago, and having reached the best of care, were making a fine growth. At no other point on the island was there any considerable damage done.

MANY BIRDS AQUATIC.

At no time during the entire winter have there been so many aquatic birds in the bay as at present. The continued storm coupled with the fact that the waters of the bay were teeming with schools of small bait fish, acted as an incentive to them to seek the quiet waters. A large flock of pelicans busy with their fishing from morning till night is one of the most interesting features to the tourists, the big ungainly birds, showing the fact that the waters of the bay were teeming with schools of small bait fish, acted as an incentive to them to seek the quiet waters.

THE LAXATIVE OF KNOWN QUALITY

There are two classes of remedies: those of known quality and which are permanently beneficial in effect, acting gently, in harmony with nature, when nature needs assistance; and another class, composed of preparations of unknown, uncertain and inferior character, acting temporarily, but injuriously, as a result of forcing the natural functions unnecessarily. One of the most exceptional of the remedies of known quality and excellence is the ever pleasant Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., which represents the active principles of plants, known to act most beneficially, in a pleasant syrup, in which the wholesome California blue figs are used to contribute their rich, yet delicate, fruity flavor. It is the remedy of all remedies to sweeten and refresh and cleanse the system gently and naturally, and to assist one in overcoming constipation and the many ills resulting therefrom. Its active principles and quality are known to physicians generally, and the remedy has therefore met with their approval, as well as with the favor of many millions of well informed persons who know of their own personal knowledge and from actual experience that it is a most excellent laxative remedy. We do not claim that it will cure all manner of ills, but recommend it for what it really represents, a laxative remedy of known quality and excellence, containing nothing of an objectionable or injurious character.

There are two classes of purchasers: those who are informed as to the quality of what they buy and the reasons for the excellence of articles of exceptional merit, and who do not lack courage to go elsewhere when a dealer offers an imitation of any well known article; but, unfortunately, there are some people who do not know, and who allow themselves to be imposed upon. They cannot expect beneficial effects if they do not get the genuine remedy.

To the credit of the druggists of the United States be it said that nearly all of them value their reputation for professional integrity and the good will of their customers too highly to offer imitations of the

DISROBED BY MACHINE.

Workman in a Packing-house Near Monrovia in Strange Accident.

MONROVIA, March 20.—The lower packing-house of the Monrovia-Duarte Fruit Exchange was the scene of a peculiar accident today, in which S. H. Fuller, a workman, came near losing his life. Fuller came in contact with the main shaft of the power plant, and was whirled off his feet and only released when the machinery had stripped him of all his clothing except his shoes.

He fell, bruised and burned from the friction, but with no bones broken, and it is believed he will recover if no internal injuries are found. Fuller is reported to have been working with the machinery when his duck jumper caught in the belt.

Before he could even call to his companions the worst of the accident was over and by the time the power had been turned off he had been released by his clothing breaking loose. Only the weakness of the drygoods saved the man's life.

INGLEWOOD.

SAVES LAD FROM DROWNING.

INGLEWOOD, March 20.—Little Harry Timmons of this place had a narrow escape from drowning Saturday afternoon. He was bathing in Inglewood reservoir and stepped into a deep hole in the center. He was slowly strangling but managed to cry for help and Earl Magee, a companion, swam to the spot and rescued the lad, who suffered severely from headache after the accident.

SANTA MONICA.

BALL TOSSERS GO NORTH.

SANTA MONICA, March 20.—The last of the second division of the Chicago National baseball squad left Santa Monica today, after a stay of three weeks at the Arcadia. The rain prevented the playing of a league game on the local grounds. From here the ball tossers go to San Francisco, where they will remain for a week before returning to the East. They express it as being their purpose to return here for practice next winter.

On Wednesday evening the Los Angeles league basketball team will come to Santa Monica for a game on the Third-street courts with the Santa Monica Breakers.

The pupils' recital at the Conservatory of Music will be held Friday evening.
